Festival Midway Plans Underway, Entries Due

While students are sipping pink lemonade or getting stuck in cotton candy at "La Fore," the Egyptian Melody Men will be playing fast and slow music to dance to on the bandstand.

Besides having a Ferris wheel, ride and two kiddie rides, the Spring Festival committee has asked the Egyptian Melody Men to play throughout the evening. They have been featured in many Student Union Coke dances and in various shows on campus. Also a money-go-round may be added.

The midway will be open at 6 p. m. Friday, May 4, east of the railroad tracks and west of Dowdell Halls, and close at midnight.

Booths, common to all carnivals, will be supplied by living groups and organizations on campus. Application blanks have been sent to all various organizations meeting the requirements. All applications must be returned by Monday to Peg Taylor at Barrett's Dormitory. In case of duplicate entries, the first application received will be considered the entry. The other entry will be asked to get another idea for a booth.

While the show goes on, judges will be looking over the booths to see which organization will be awarded the first and second place trophies. These trophies will be awarded Saturday, May 5, during the "Miss Southern" contest on the Woody Hall patio.

Midway committee members are: Peggy Wilson and Dick Small, co-chairmen; Diane Hutchison, Roby McFadden, Peg Taylor, Sonnie Unger, Jackie Sanders, Frank Weisinger, Ted Meant, Terry Porter, Diana Marselli and Mary Ellen Michalis.

New Sectioning Center Set Up In Parkinson

The newly created "sectioning center" is located in Parkinson room 113.

The sectioning center is the second place a student goes under the registration process. The center is open from 8 a. m. to 4:30 p. m. Monday through Friday until May 26, last day for pre-registration. The registration center is open from 2 to 4:30 p. m.

The three steps a student takes in registering for the fall quarter, or for the summer term are:

1. See your academic adviser. With him you will work out the courses you will take. If any happen to be multi-section courses (courses with more than one section being taught), the exact time you take them will be determined by the next step, the sectioning center.

2. The sectioning center will assign the time you are to take your courses. Whether you have any multi-section courses or not, you must go through the sectioning center.

3. Registration center. This is the last step. You will be given the regular class cards; they will be checked, and you will be registered—except for fees.

IFC Elects Officers, Studies New Groups

New officers were elected at an Inter-Fraternity Council meeting Tuesday night, with Eldon Klein, Sigma Phi, being chosen president for the coming year. Fran Mazen, Theta Xi, was selected as vice president, and Dale Furtwengler, Phi Kappa Tau, was elected secretary-treasurer.

Another fraternity, Acaia, was admitted into the IFC on probationary status for 12 weeks. The SIU colony is already affiliated nationally, and has 24 activists and three pledges at present. Dean T. W. Abbott is the faculty advisor, and Rex D. Karnes is the fiscal sponsor.

Two local fraternities that were admitted on probationary status last week, Alpha Sigma and Epsilon Tau Sigma, submitted financial reports to the IFC. President Roger Ayth appointed a committee to study the reports.

3. Necessary to Pledge

Jim McKinstry, Delta Chi representative, introduced a resolution which definitely would not let the IFC give special consideration to a fraternity to pledge a student who does not have a 3.5 grade average.

Such a rule is stated in the by-laws of the IFC constitution, but several exceptions had been allowed this year. The resolution passed and it was agreed that no exceptions to the rule would be

Course On Dating Offered Next Fall

"Dating, Courtship and Marriage," Sociology 103, will be offered for the first time this fall, according to Jack S. McCray, sociology and anthropology instructor.

The four-hour course is recommended for unmarried freshmen who do not have any background in social science courses, he said.

"The course is concerned with problems of dating, courtship and marriage in contemporary married societies," he stated.

The course will be taught by McCray and Dr. Herman R. Lantz, associate professor of sociology and anthropology.

Students Should Check Roll For Honors Day Program

Students who think they should be on the Honors Day program should check the list in the hall outside the registrar's office by Friday, April 27.

The list includes all those students who are supposed to be on the Honors Day program. Requirements for freshmen and sophomores is a 4.5 scholastic average and for juniors and seniors 4.25.

Library Instruction For Freshmen Tested

An accelerated program of library instruction for freshmen is now being tested, according to Dr. Ralph E. McCoy, library director.

Freshmen formerly received only one hour of library instruction during the course of the required freshmen English courses.

"With the cooperation of the English department, we are trying out a program in which each student will have six hours of work in the library field," McCoy said.

All members of the library's professional staff are assisting in the instructional program, McCoy said.

Students Must Clear Work Schedules With Student Affairs Office

If a student plans to work on campus next fall term, he should go to the Office of Student Employment to obtain approval for a work schedule.

If a student plans to work on campus next fall, he should contact his work supervisor for his work schedule, which will have to be approved by the Office of Student Employment.

The sectioning center will assume that a student does not need special times for work unless he presents an approved work schedule from the Office of Student Employment.

File Graduations Now

Students who plan to receive a degree at the June 17 commencement and who have not already filed their graduation application at the registrar's office are urged to do so at an early date, according to Dr. Robert A. McGrath, registrar.

The graduation fee has been raised to fifteen dollars effective with this June commencement.

May 26 is the deadline for filing graduation applications.

Application forms may be picked up at the registrar's office. The forms should be returned there after the student has cleared his graduation fee at the bursar's office.

Graduating students should ask for a graduation instruction sheet at the time they pick up their graduation application form.

Married Students Insurance Plan Under Consideration

By Bill Markle

Suffering along with one of its members is only part of the trouble a family faces in time of illness. Added to this is the struggle to keep their head above water when hospital bills start arriving in bundles.

To alleviate this predicament a hospitalization and surgical insurance plan for married students has been drawn-up to provide coverage for the student's entire family.

Though still in a tentative stage, his plan has already received Student Council approval. Two more hurdles must be cleared before the insurance is put into operation. First University legal counsel will iron out the kinks in the contract, and then in its finished form it will be submitted to the SIU administration for approval.

As the plan stands now the benefits derived are $9.50 a day for hospital expenses up to 30 days, and $4.75 a day for the next 60 days.

In addition to these benefits

there will be $95 for the operating room, laboratory fees, medicine, surgical dressings, anesthesia, X-ray examinations, and ambulance service.

This money can be distributed among those various expenses, or it can be applied to one unusually large miscellaneous charge.

A maximum of $100 will be available for maternity cases or complications arising therefrom, for Caesarian births there is an increase of $50.

Guy Moore, married senior and chairman of the insurance committee, reported a low bid of $14.01 had been received from the Gold-Tule Insurance Company of Lawrenceville, Ill.

"This is how the benefits are paid," he said, "for example, a person entering the hospital for a period of 35 days would be eligible for a rate of $9.50 per day for the first 30 days and then $4.75 for the next 5 days, plus $95 for miscellaneous coverage."

BSU Installs New Officers At State Retreat

The installation of new officers, conferences and plans for the 1956-57 school year highlighted a two-day Baptist Student Union State Retreat at Giant City last weekend.

BSU members from the University of Illinois joined with the SIU members, bringing the total number of students to about 85.

The new officers installed in the state election were: Ted Brown, president, UI, of L. Becky Harris, social chairman, SIU; Earla Sanders, devotionist vice president, SIU; Bill Eidson, enlistment vice president, SIU; Dolores Clark, secretary, UI; Wilma Harris, pianist, UI; J. Carl Smith, musical director, SIU; and Jess Pepple, treasurer, UI.

Earla Sanders of Southern was chosen as the SIU summer missionary. She will work in Hawaii from the middle of June until the latter part of August. Her expenses will be paid from a fund which was raised by local BSU students.

Speakers at the retreat were David Chen, Fomson student at SIU, and Dr. W. C. Dobbs of the First Baptist Church in Effingham, Ill. Dr. Dobbs is currently holding a revival in the University Baptist Church in Carbondale.

The students spent Friday night sleeping in the barracks at Giant City. The retreat started at noon Friday and ended late Saturday afternoon.

Lucille Steele, director of the SIU Baptist Student Union, was in charge of the retreat.

Saluki Hour To Go To Vienna High School

The "man-size" "Gole" bottle will pack up its crew Tuesday and go on the road for its broadcast of the Saluki Hour.

The program broadcast every Wednesday at 3:15 p. m. over WLLI, is tape recorded the Tuesday before by students in radio courses. Tuesday the troupe will go to Vienna High School where they will have a variety show and interviews with the principal, Tony Hightower, and the student council president at 2:45 p. m.

This program has been recorded from five schools this year and proven successful. Now the group plans to record more of these such programs.

"It's a thing our high school has had for school spirit as far as getting students to perform in front of an audience," said one principal to Ralph Becker, production manager of the SIU radio service.

Cur Hightower, host and hostess; Keith Pierce, organizer; John McIntire, vocalist; Don Davis, announcer, and Bill McKinstry, director.

Three acts were presented in the variety show, which Robert W. Tunnell, lecturer in the department of business administration, emceed. The ROTC cadet quartet, sometimes called the Phantoms, Quater, sang for number one.

Gregory played the "Calypso Blues," and a group from the Women's Physical Education Department performed a modern dance, a tap dance, and an Austria folk dance.

After the variety show, the seniors participated in six discussion sessions led by members of the business administration department. Topics were: accounting, finance, general business, marketing, personnel and management, and consumer training and business career training.

Harves C. Rabe, associate professor of business administration, was in charge of the high school day.

Opening Library Program Honors Charles Feinberg

A two-day program honoring Charles E. Feinberg will mark the opening of the SIU library's new special collections room Thursday and Friday (April 19-20).

Feinberg, Detroit oil executive and nationally-known book collector, has contributed much of the material for the collection, according to Dr. Ralph E. McCoy, library director.

The collection, which will be housed in the southeast corner of the first floor, will have three sections, with emphasis on a collection of books and papers by and about Walt Whitman. Also included will be a group of books by Charles and Mary Lamb, and examples of fine private printing.

McCoy said that the room will be valuable not only as a museum, but also in English research projects. The room will not be open to the public, but interested persons may use it with the permission of the library-director.

Feinberg, who was awarded a honorary Doctor of Humane Letters degree by Southern at the June, 1955, commencement exercises, will start the dedication ceremony with a talk on "Book Collecting" at 10 a. m. Thursday (April 19) in the library auditorium. He will also be honored at a reception from 3-5 p. m. the same day in the library lounge.

At 10 a. m. Friday, Feinberg will present a demonstration lecture in the new collections room. Feinberg has gained national recognition for his Whitman collection, and has recently been named co-editor of the "Walt Whitman Newsletter," a quarterly publication of the Wayne University Press.

Dr. Robert D. Finer, professor of English, is in charge of arrangements for the dedication.

Each college will submit one expense, including the cost of transportation, lodging, and social, recreational and classroom activities. Transportation is each student's own responsibility.

Courses are given in Christian ideals, personal foundations, personal enrichment, leadership principles and leadership practice.

A comprehensive program of group social and recreational activities is included in the camp schedule. A system of personal measurement, including individual "prescriptions" based on discipline records, is an important phase of the training program.

Anyone interested in the scholarship should contact Dr. Robert A. Harper, associate professor of geography.

'Chico' Saved By Bird As Pan American Movie Opens Week

The loyalty found in the boy-dog relationship of the American night in University School Auditorium. The movie honored the film Festival at Vienna and rated highly as an international film by the National Board of Review, demonstrated the theory that people are alike the world over in their basic needs and desires.

It is the story of a boy, a pet and his surroundings. The movie showed several closeups of animals, their fights for survival, and how incidents which even Walt Disney could not have animated better.

Chico, a nine-year-old boy-dog found a mother bird hidden in a cactus with her four dependents. The next day he returned and found that a coyote had killed the mother bird.

For weeks he caught lizards to feed the little ones. When the birds reach adulthood, they all leave their nest except one who waits for the boy to return. Members of the Parking Committee met last Friday to discuss possible changes of the policies and regulations of the committee's by-laws for the rest of the spring term.

The group, of which Dr. Max Sappenfield, personnel director, is head, approved all the rules as they stand now.

The committee discussed: re-regulation, distribution of parking lots, surveys of car vacancies, violations and fines, proper dis-

Springtime

Poets say that spring is the time of flowers, birds, playful breezes, balmy weather, spring fever and romance. Nuts!

Spring is here all right, but where are the flowers, birds, balmy weather and playful breezes? The only flowers are those foolish plants which try to rush the season and get "nipped in the bud."

The birds are here though. Just the other day I saw a penguin waddling across the campus.

The playful breezes are here, too. It's just that they play a little rough. Sometimes they pick up a tree and playfully swat some unsuspecting soul in the head. It's all in fun.

The only spring fever evident is that which is the result of having a cold.

And then there's romance. What with trying to keep out of the torrential "April showers," dodging mud puddles, getting rid of the too common cold and trying to keep warm in the balmy spring air, who's got time for romance?

What's Happening?

What constitutes a social function? As yet, student organizations are waiting for a clear-cut definition from the Office of Student Affairs.

Kent Hawley, assistant dean of men, offered his definition at the Inter-Fraternity council meeting Tuesday but did not state if this was the University interpretation. (See IFC Elects Officers.)

Since a regulation was imposed against the students last year to the effect that no social functions could be held after 7 p. m. Monday thru Thursdays, students have been waiting for a definition on the question. Of course, all social gatherings must be scheduled with the Office of Student Affairs.

This raises another point. Are gatherings during the week, such as the parties which have been held by different religious groups in the past, considered social functions?

The reason for such concern seems to be the fact that an organization breaking the regulation can be placed on social probation. This causes the organization to lose all privileges of entering in social life on campus.

In order to clear the air, I believe that this is one point the University, through the Office of Student Affairs, should define in black and white so that the students might know where they stand.

Applications Open For J-Ag Scholarship

It isn't too late. Applications are still being accepted for the Prairie Farmer agricultural journalism scholarship.

This $500 scholarship is to be given to a freshman or sophomore agriculture student interested in agricultural journalism. The recipient studied two years in the School of Agriculture, fulfilling those as well as the general university requirements, then spends the next two years studying journalism.

Applications will be accepted all this month, and the winner will be announced on Honors Day. Those interested may apply either to the School of Agriculture or to Dr. H. R. Long, chairman of the journalism department.

Last year's winner was Gary Heape.

Geography Field Trip To Visit Europe, England

Anchor's aweigh! Sailing at break of day on June 12 from Quebec will be the Geography 450 class. The class will visit ten European countries on a field course in geography offered by SIU and its agent, Academic Travel Board, a nonprofit organization of New York City.

Landing first in England, the class will study there and in Scotland, according to Dr. Floyd Cunningham, chairman of the geography department, who will accompany the group.

"We will then travel across the North Sea to Bergen, Norway," he said. "After a study in Norway and Sweden, we will go to Denmark and then through Holland, Belgium and Germany to Switzerland. The last week or more will be spent in France. We will return to either Quebec or Montreal on August 17."

Emphasis will be placed on agricultural geography, urban geography, commercial geography, transportation and marketing geography, and port and harbor development. Some studies will be made of the scenic and recreational resources, especially where such resources are quite important in the regional economy.

Course Gives Credit

The course is open to juniors, seniors and graduate students who have had as a minimum requirement the introductory course in geography—geography 100 at SIU—or the equivalent thereof. Twelve quarter hours credit will be given to those who satisfactorily complete the course.

Any graduate student majoring in a field other than geography must first enroll in the course; secure a written statement from his advisor to the effect that the course will be accepted as graduate credit. All of the scholarship reserves have been taken, Cunningham said.

Some May Fly

"We may get a few additional berths because of cancellations," he stated. "If we have still additional people who wish to join the class, we can arrange to fly them over and back, but at an additional cost."

Currently enrolled in the class are: Wills Frances Lane, T. Adams.

Dr. Arthur Billings To Talk On Russia At IRC Meeting

"Life in Yugoslavia and Russia" is the topic of a talk to be given to the International Relations Club Thursday by Dr. Arthur C. Billings, professor of economics, who came to SIU this spring.

Billings was in Moscow from 1935 to 1938 with the U. S. foreign service. He did relief work in Austria in the years 1946-51, and was president of the International Club of Vienna while he was there. After 1952, he was with the International Monetary Fund and was area economist for Yugoslavia and eastern Europe. From 1954 to October, 1955, he was in charge of the CARE mission to Yugoslavia.

Geologists 'Migrate' To Study Fossils

It may be the wrong season for migration, but six geology majors are going south today.

Members of Instructor J. R. DaBar's Geology 427 class, an advanced course in paleontology, will study mapping and collecting techniques on a field trip to Coon Creek, Tenn. The group accompanied by DaBar, will leave today at 4 p. m. and return Monday at 9 p. m.

Coon Creek is a famous fossil collecting area, according to DaBar. The fossil collectors will also visit areas around Tupelo and Ripley, Miss.

The remains of a large marine reptile that lived about 90 years ago was found in the area last year by members of a field trip. DaBar said.

"We hope we can find new remains of it this year and bring them back," he stated.

Making the trip are: Marvin Kays, Herschel Mohr, Bill Stevenson, Elmo Heaton, Bill Van Almen and Gary Long.

Latin Americans Believe Anyone With B. O. Can Go To Heaven

"Latin Americans believe that you can have B.O. and no IQ and still get to heaven," said Rev. John Francis Bannon, professor and director of history at St. Louis University.

Father Bannon spoke before an audience composed mostly of teachers and Spanish students as part of the Pan American Week celebration in the University School Auditorium Tuesday night. He was introduced by Joseph Ray Baxter, chairman of the festival committee, to speak on "What Makes the Latin Americans Tick?"

Father Bannon explained the above statement by comparing the Latin with the North Americans. He declared it is easier to discuss the difference of the Latin than their likeness in appreciating them as Americans.

Their real differences lie neither in their complexion nor in their linguistic nature but in their outlook, attitudes and interests. "It is in a voice which carried so well he didn't need a microphone. They are culturally cut from the same cloth we are, but their ethnic background leads to the differences."

"In the U. S. we have a melting pot of European nationalities but in Latin America it is a melting pot of races. Indians and Europeans first settled in Latin America and then the labor problems introduced the Africans. This gave them three races."

Father Bannon regressed to the Renaissance where he said it all began.

"The Renaissance showed differences in the acceptance of religious authority," he said. "This 16th century created two Europeans. One of the Protestant which became the Northern and the Catholic which became the Latin."

After the split up, each went its own way. Both of them founded colonies and transmitted its own ideals and prejudices, he went on.

"The Latins accepted the medieval practices and didn't want to change," he said. "They were satisfied with the traditional theories of the church, feudal society, class stratification and the general medieval outlook on the life which led to no emphasis on a modern world."

"The Northern people tended to work away from the medieval patterns and became more modern and progressive. They had a desire for land and set up a common law and representative government."

His so called immature political outlook, Father Bannon attributed to the Moorish doctrine and the apostrophe held by Spain. "The Latins have a tendency to blow up in a revolution which classifies them as politically immature," he said. "This can be explained by comparing Latin America again with North America."

"North America inherited the Anglo Saxon tradition of using representation in government. They did this when they set up the 13 colonies. All these men had had previous experience. Latin America didn't have that experience although they had a greater appreciation for government than did our fathers. They wrote beautiful constitutions but couldn't make them function. They wanted to conform to the principle of representation but were unwilling to compromise."

Also the Latin is an individualist because of his contact with the individualistic Moorish conquerors. This contact made him a man in deadly fashion devoted to his principles and made him explosive.

"These disabilities hampered their country economically. Economically he is ambitious but historically he feels he has been jipped. They were restricted by their mother country in what to develop because Spain insisted on a monoculture."

"He is what his sense of values has made him and we have to take him for what he is."

"The Latins accepted the

Mr. Russo, whose drawings and paintings will be exhibited from April 16 to May 4, was associated with Dean Shryock at the New Orleans Academy of Art during the last forties. Since then, he has traveled and studied through Europe and has received two Guggenheim grants.

Mr. Russo will be present at a coffee hour on Monday at 4 p. m. at the Allyn Gallery. All students are welcome to come and meet Mr. Russo and to view his work.

He held upon a suggestion by the Vocational Rehabilitation Office of the U. S. Department of Health.

The conference will be held at the Hotel Schroeder.

"Jeepers! A Jackrabbit on wheels!"

Your car—if its wheels are unbalanced—will be envied by jackrabbits, but sooner or later it'll be a headache to you. Wheels that are out of balance tend to "hop" much as if they were lopsided. They cause "steering shake"—forcing the driver to keep a tight, tiresome grip on the wheel. Unbalanced wheels set up vibrations that cause expensive damage to steering and wheel assemblies.

Bring your car in today and let our expert mechanics check your wheel balance with our precision John Bean Wheel Balancing System.

Tonight's open house will be from 7:30 until 10:30 while Saturday evening's open house will be from 6:30 to 9.

Meanwhile at the Chatauqu Co-ops each of the three co-operative housing units will illustrate a well-known movie. First prize for the best decorations along this theme will be a ham. This is because each of the units has cooking facilities which the men utilize. A trophy will also be awarded for the best rooms.

As an added convenience for those attending the open house tonight free bus service between the Dowdell Halls and the Chatauqu Co-ops will be provided. A bus will leave each housing area every 15 minutes going to the other.

Salukis Open IAC Play Against Normal

The SIU baseball team opens IAC play tomorrow against Illinois Normal at Normal, trying for its second and third victory in the season's first doubleheader for the Salukis. They have lost one game, and have been rained out of two.

In Normal, SIU will be facing a team which has won the Interstate conference championship for the last two years. The Redbirds also had the most valuable conference player last year in the person of Bob Rigenbach, a leftfielder and third baseman.

The Cardinals have six lettermen back from last year, including three pitchers. One of them, Norman Miller, had a 5-0 record in the IAC last year as a freshman.

Against Normal last year, SIU split two games, winning 8-7 and losing 4-2.

After the doubleheader at Normal tomorrow, the Salukis travel to Champaign for a game with the University of Illinois on Wednesday, April 18.

Displays By 13 Firms Highlight Sports Show

Thirteen sporting and athletic firms will display their wares next Thursday, Friday and Saturday, April 19-21, at the first annual Sportsman's Show in the Carbondale State Armory.

Business groups entered in the exhibit include: Veath Sports Mart, Patterson Hardware, Mercury Outboard Motors, and Johnson Motors, and Thunderbird and Yellow Jacket Bouts of Carbondale; Montgomery Ward and William Eisfeld of Murphysboro.

Airboats Inc., and Scott-Attwater Motors of St. Louis; Arkansas Traveler Bouts of Marion; Lone Star Bouts of Makanda; the Department of Conservation of Springfield; Polar Kraft Manufacturing Co., of Memphis, Tenn.; and Harrocks - Ibbotson Co., of New York.

SIU students will be charged 25 cents for admission with their activity cards, and grade and high school students will be admitted free. Adult tickets will cost 50 cents.

"God's Country," a film in color will also be shown at the exhibition. The movie deals with various types of fishing from the Arctic Ocean to the tropics.

The Physical Education Majors Club is sponsoring the three-day show. Ed Johnson is president of the club.

Track Coach Carl Appell of Northern Illinois State College is recovering satisfactorily from an eye operation, performed early in March. An examination within the next few days will determine when he might rejoin the staff.

Horseback Riding Offered April 21

Ray Tabacchi, left, Charles Scheibel, Wayne Williams, and Norby Vogt. The Salukis were rained out of two straight games this week. Games with Wheaton and Evansville College were cancelled.

Sports In Spurts

By Bill Epperheim
Egyptian Sports Editor

Sports fans on the SIU campus and in the surrounding area will be offered a rare attraction next Monday night. When Jack Kramer's professional tennis troupe appears at the SIU gymnasium, it will be the first big-time sports attraction ever offered in the area.

One of the attractive aspects of this match, especially to the SIU, will be charged only 75 cents to observe the world's top tennis players in action.

The $150 charged everyone else is also a real bargain, according to Kramer's publicity manager. He says it is the lowest price charged on the tour to date.

The group travels with their own portable court and net, as I understand it, with green tarpaulin to cover the gym floor.

As university officials have pointed out, the success of this event will be used as a basis for possible scheduling of other top-notch sports attractions.

Seating arrangements have been made so no one will have to sit on the ends of the court, so everyone will have good seats.

If you're not afraid of a sore neck, here's a chance to see top grade tennis at a nominal fee. Tickets may be purchased at the athletic department or at the door.

Mother nature has been working against the SIU athletic teams this past week. Two baseball games, one golf match, two tennis matches, and one track meet have not been played so far because of inclement weather.

Injuries have taken their toll of the SIU tracksters this season. Marion Rushing injured his shoulder, and broad-jumper Jim Alexander has pulled muscle in his leg. Warren Wilkinson broke an arm while hurdling against Western last Friday, and Vernon Sprehe pulled a muscle in his leg. Wilkins' loss leaves Coach Doc Lingle short of hurdlers, already a weak spot.

Another former SIU football player, Joe Huske, will make a bid to play professional football next year. He will play with the Chicago Cardinals.

Huske, who has been playing with Ft. Belvoir, Va., Captained SIU's grid team in 1952, and in 1953 completed 86 of 180 pass attempts for 991 yards — third best nationally that year.

Last year's captain, end Wayne Williams, will try out for the New York Giant's team this summer.

SIU is not the only school which had a female on its gymnastics team this year. Eastern had one that performed last Saturday at Western's five girl exhibitionists.

Some of the schools in the IAC get the jump on Southern every year in track, competing in the indoor version during the winter months. Northern Illinois, Central Michigan, and Michigan Normal are three schools that participate indoors.

Salukis Rained Out

The baseball, golf, and tennis teams were rained out of dates early this week.

The baseball team was deprived of playing Wheaton College last Monday, and Evansville College Tuesday.

The golf team also was supposed to meet Evansville Tuesday.

The tennis team was to have traveled to Murray, Ky., to meet Murray State College, but they were also rained out.

Trabert, Gonzales In Tennis Battle Here Next Monday

Tony Trabert and Pancho Gonzales, two of the world's top professional tennis players will perform in the SIU gym next Monday night at 7:30.

Besides Trabert and Gonzales, Rex Hartwig of Australia and Pancho Segura of Ecuador will also play.

The SIU clash will be one of the 100-match series between Trabert and Gonzales, who are battling for a $25,000 prize, which will be awarded to the series winner.

Trabert and Hartwig will compete with Segura and Gonzales in the double matches.

The exhibition series opened in Madison Square Garden and includes many major American cities. It will be the only big-time tennis exhibition ever scheduled in the Carbondale area. University officials pointed out that the success of the special performance will be used as a basis for the possible scheduling of other top-notch sport attractions.

Victories of Trabert, former captain of the U. S. Davis Cup team, include the French and Wimbledon titles, the National Indoor Singles, the National Clay Court Singles, and the National Singles at Forest Hills.

Gonzales has won 14 major professional titles in 18 possible chances during the past six years. He's also credited with serving a ball at 112 miles per hour — the fastest service ever recorded.

Admission for SIU students will be 75 cents.
